

Quarterly Total Relationship Balance

Total Relationship Balance (TRB) for the Retail Business Banking (RBB) proposition, is the average of daily balance over a quarter, in the current account.

In addition to this, if any (or more than 1) of the connected party, in the RBB current account, maintain(s) individual relationship with the Bank and have provided the consent of adding the individual TRB to the RBB proposition, then the individual quarterly TRB of the connected party maintaining the highest TRB (if more than 1 have given the consent) will be added to the TRB for RBB proposition.

According to the overall quarterly TRB maintained on both current account and individual personal relationship the overall quarterly TRB for RBB proposition be calculated and used to determine if as per proposition the balances are maintained.
